Ehime University is located on the island of Shikoku, one of the four main islands of Japan. It is in the city of Matsuyama (pop. 500,000) which retains the friendly, relaxed atmosphere of the country while serving as a center of business and industry on the island. The city is flat so it is easy to cycle everywhere and the main campus is only a 5-minute ride away from the city center.

Matsuyama is nestled against a backdrop of hills facing the Seto Inland Sea, providing a mild climate, with temperatures ranging, on average, from 5°C to 27°C. Ehime Prefecture is known for: the Shimanami Kaido Bridge system, which links Shikoku to Honshu; Mt. Ishizuchi (1982m), the highest mountain west of Kyoto; and historical Dogo Hot Spring Spa, recently awarded two stars in the Michelin guide.
